CORE VALUES IN ACTION: SHAPING THE FUTURE OF AGING TOGETHER

Dear Friends,

In the journey of aging, where every day is a canvas for new experiences, challenges, and achievements, the Center for Modern Aging Princeton (CMAP) stands as a beacon of support, innovation, and community. Rooted deeply in our core values – excellence, compassion, community, inclusion, joy, innovation, purpose, and stewardship – CMAP is more than just a center; it's a vibrant community where older adults and their families find the resources, support, and opportunities to live their lives to the fullest.

Excellence in Every Endeavor

At CMAP, excellence is not just an aspiration but a standard. Whether it's through the quality of our programs, the expertise of our staff, or the impact of our outreach, we strive for the highest standards to ensure that our community receives the best possible support and opportunities to thrive.

Compassion at Our Core

Compassion lies at the heart of everything we do. Understanding the unique challenges and opportunities that come with aging enables us to provide not just services but heartfelt support that respects the dignity and worth of every individual. Our approach is always person-centered, ensuring that our community feels seen, heard, and valued.

Fostering a Vibrant Community

Community is our strength. CMAP is dedicated to creating a space where connections flourish, support systems are strengthened, and friendships are formed. Through a variety of events, programs, and gatherings, we cultivate an environment where everyone is welcome, and collective growth is celebrated.

Inclusion in Every Aspect

Inclusion is a fundamental principle that guides our work. We recognize and celebrate the diversity of our community, ensuring that our programs, services, and spaces are accessible to all. CMAP champions the belief that everyone, regardless of their background, abilities, or challenges, should have the opportunity to contribute, learn, and grow.

Joy in the Journey of Aging

Joy is a vital part of the aging journey, and at CMAP, we make it a priority to infuse happiness and positivity into our programs and interactions. From cultural outings and educational seminars to recreation activities and social gatherings, we create opportunities for laughter, enjoyment, and the celebration of life's simple pleasures.

Innovation for Tomorrow

Innovation drives us forward. CMAP is committed to exploring new ideas, technologies, and approaches to support aging adults. Whether it's through cutting-edge technology, creative programming, or an expanding array of services, we are always looking for ways to improve the quality of life for our community members.

Living with Purpose

Purpose fuels our mission. We believe that everyone has something valuable to contribute, regardless of age. CMAP provides avenues for older adults to find and fulfill their purposes, whether through volunteerism, mentorship, advocacy, or creative expression, enriching not only their lives but also the community at large.

Stewardship of Our Community's Future

Stewardship is our pledge to the community. As a vibrant community nonprofit, we are dedicated to responsibly managing the resources entrusted to us, ensuring that we can continue to support and enrich the lives of older adults for generations to come. Our commitment to financial sustainability, ethical and transparent practices, and the long-term well-being of our community guides every decision we make.

Join Us in Shaping the Future

At The Center for Modern Aging Princeton, our core values are not just words – they are actions that shape everything we do. They are a commitment to creating a future where aging is not just a phase of life but a community journey filled with opportunities for growth, contribution, and joy.

We invite you to become a part of this vibrant community. Whether you're seeking support, looking to contribute, or simply want to learn more, there's a place for you at CMAP. Together, guided by our values, we can make the journey of aging a fulfilling and enriching experience for all.

Your journey. Our journey. A journey we make together, with purpose and joy.

WOMEN IN RETIREMENT MONTHLY PRESENTATION - NAVIGATING THE NEW WORLD OF TELEVISION VIEWING

(Hybrid - In-Person at NSK Location and on Zoom)

Friday, June 21, 10:00 a.m.

Television viewing used to be straightforward: connect an antenna and tune in to one of the channels available in your area. While this method was easy to use, it offered limited content options, and viewers were constrained to what was broadcast at that particular moment. Nowadays, the landscape has drastically changed. You have the freedom to watch nearly anything you desire, whenever you want, albeit with some potentially significant challenges.

Dr. Rich Chernock, who retired as the chief science officer of Triveni Digital, will shed light on the current television viewing landscape. He will provide insights into how we arrived at this point, clarify common points of confusion, and offer suggestions on how to tackle associated problems. All are welcome to attend. Registration required, no fee.

WHAT IS GRANDPALS?

GrandPals is a CMAP program in which older adults (forty-seven to ninety-three!) go to several Princeton elementary schools to read to children. The program's goals are to foster a lifelong love of reading and learning in our young children and to build a good relationship between the generations. Sharing your interests and your time will be beneficial to others and rewarding to you. As one GrandPal said, "This is the highlight of my week!"

HOW DOES THE PROGRAM WORK?

Volunteers are interviewed for their interests and background. They are then matched with one or two children. Youngsters and volunteers spend thirty minutes together once a week reading and sharing stories in regularly scheduled sessions during the school day. Orientation is provided through CMAP and the Princeton Public Schools.

The GrandPal coordinator provides ongoing communication, support, and problem-solving, and is on-site during sessions. GrandPals can also share experiences and techniques with other GrandPals working in the same session.

WHO VOLUNTEERS?

GrandPal volunteers come with varied skills and from many walks of life. What they have in common is enthusiasm for being with young people and a willingness to build a relationship over the school year. No special training or previous experience is necessary.

WHAT CAN I EXPECT?

- The joy of sharing stories with a child just discovering the world of learning
- The pleasure of building a meaningful relationship with a child who may not have grandparents nearby
- A lively, warm environment where teachers and children value your contribution
- Working with other volunteers toward a common goal

For more information about becoming a GrandPals volunteer, please email Ella Leving, GrandPals coordinator at eleaving@cmaprinceton.org or apply at <https://engage.cmaprinceton.org/grandpals-interest>.

CMAP CELEBRATES PRIDE

by Billi Charron, MSW, Social Worker

It's that time again, time for the rainbow flags to come out and Pride events to fill up our calendars. CMAP celebrates LGBTQ+ Pride every June along with millions of others across the nation. Some of our core values include community, joy, and inclusivity. We strive for every participant to feel like part of the CMAP community, to experience joy, and to know they are valued for who they are and for their unique contributions. For our LGBTQ+ older adults, we created a safe space to socialize and gain support. Our Aging Gaily group has a strong cohort of people who meet monthly to discuss books, health, legal issues, and personal life issues they need support around, and there is always the sound of laughter.

Pride is more than just a one-day event or a once-a-month meeting. Dictionary.com defines Pride as recognition of LGBTQ identity, affirmation of equal rights, and celebration of visibility, dignity, and diversity in the LGBTQ community. Our LGBTQ+ neighbors and community members are living Pride every day. In celebration of the uniqueness of the lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, and queer/questioning community, we invite you to attend our Pride Day events on June 7 and other events throughout the month.

UNDERSTANDING AND ADDRESSING PTSD IN OLDER ADULTS: A CALL FOR INCREASED AWARENESS AND SUPPORT

by Johanna Peters, Director of Social Services

Post-traumatic stress disorder (PTSD) is a mental health condition often associated with younger individuals, particularly those who have experienced combat, natural disasters, or personal trauma. However, PTSD is not exclusive to any age group and presents a unique set of challenges and symptoms in older adults. This demographic often remains overlooked in conversations about PTSD, resulting in underdiagnosis, misdiagnosis, or inadequate treatment. It is crucial to recognize the signs of PTSD in older adults and ensure they receive the appropriate care and support.

PTSD in older adults can stem from traumatic events experienced at any point in their lives, not just in their later years. Many may have lived with the condition undiagnosed or untreated for decades. Events such as military combat, loss of loved ones, accidents, or natural disasters are common triggers. The normal aging process can also exacerbate the situation, as it often brings significant life changes such as retirement, health issues, and increased isolation.

SIGNS AND SYMPTOMS

The manifestation of PTSD symptoms in older adults can differ from those typically observed in younger individuals. Some common symptoms include:

- Re-experiencing the Trauma: This might consist of flashbacks, nightmares, or intrusive thoughts, which can be particularly distressing and disorienting in older age.
- Avoidance: Older adults may avoid people, places, or activities that remind them of the traumatic event, leading to social withdrawal and isolation.
- Negative Changes in Thinking and Mood: Feelings of hopelessness, memory problems, and difficulty maintaining close relationships are common.
- Increased Arousal: Symptoms such as irritability, angry outbursts, being easily startled, or having difficulty sleeping are prevalent.

Diagnosing PTSD in older adults is complicated by several factors. First, symptoms of PTSD can overlap with those of other common age-related conditions such as dementia, depression, and anxiety disorders. Furthermore, there is often a generational stigma associated with mental health issues, making many reluctant to seek help or open up about their experiences.

Regarding treatment, older adults may face additional barriers, including mobility limitations, transportation issues, and a lack of services tailored to their age group. Moreover, specialized approaches may be needed to accommodate cognitive changes or physical health issues that are more common in older populations.

INCREASING AWARENESS AND SUPPORT

Increasing awareness about PTSD among older adults is a critical step toward improving care for this population. It involves:

- Education: Healthcare providers, caregivers, and the general public need education on recognizing PTSD symptoms in older adults and understanding the importance of timely mental health interventions.
- Screening: Routine screenings for PTSD symptoms should be integrated into regular healthcare visits for older adults, especially for those with known risk factors.
- Resources: The development and dissemination of resources tailored specifically to older adults and their caregivers are necessary to provide accessible and practical support.
- Advocacy: Advocating for policy changes that increase funding and resources for mental health services targeting older adults can help ensure they receive the care they need.

PTSD is a severe condition that does not discriminate by age. Older adults, a group often neglected when it comes to PTSD awareness and treatment, require, and deserve as much attention and support as younger populations. By recognizing the unique ways PTSD affects older adults and taking steps to address these challenges, society can help improve the quality of life for all individuals affected by this disorder. As awareness grows and more resources become available, older adults who have PTSD can find the help they need to manage their symptoms and lead more peaceful lives.

The Many Versions of Microsoft Outlook

This month, we will explore the myriad versions of Outlook – Microsoft’s “Swiss Army Knife” email-calendar-contacts application.

Microsoft continues remodeling Outlook with new “window” treatments, menus, and other under-the-hood doo-dads to “improve the user experience.” As for me, I haven’t had a notably enjoyable “user experience” with Outlook in more than thirty years, but millions of folks use it, so maybe they do.

A Brief History of Outlook

Microsoft initially developed Outlook for the business community as part of Office 1997. It rolled up a company’s email, calendar, and contact lists into a non-tidy package that some corporate “IT Guy” named Brian presided over.

Outlook also provided a company-wide “Global Address List” that only Brian understood. You could also set up your own private contact list and view it as a matrix of virtual cards (ala Rolodex) with infinite settings for fonts, column size, and groupings selected through myriad menus and drop-down dialog boxes that bristled around the periphery of the screen.

There was also a web version of Outlook that used Internet Explorer.

Microsoft’s Windows included a “lite” version called “Outlook Express” for home computers. It was much (much) simpler than Outlook, and you didn’t need Brian to manage it.

In 2007, Microsoft replaced Outlook Express with Windows Mail, Calendar, and the aptly named People address book. It was simple to use, and separated the mail, calendar, and contact functions into their separate applications. Nice.

The “New” Outlook(s)

Alas, Outlook was getting a bit long in the tooth, and Microsoft recently offered a “New” Outlook as part of Microsoft 365. New Outlook provides a simpler set of menus, but if you like the “old” Outlook, you can keep it (at least for now). (This reminds me of “New Coke” and “Coke Classic,” and we knew where that went.)

For home users, Microsoft is now replacing its free Windows Mail, Calendar, and People apps with a lite version of Outlook as part of Windows 11. You can continue using Mail (if you ever were), but at some point, Mail will go away, so it’s Outlook for everyone.

But wait—there’s more!

There’s also a new web browser version of Outlook! It looks a lot like Outlook 365, but it’s free.

And Microsoft didn’t forget Apple folks – so there’s a Mac version of Outlook, too, but the Apple Mail app is much easier to use.

If all this sounds to confusing, well, it is. But we can help. Just go to Tech Lab – Center for Modern Aging Princeton (cmaprinceton.org) to set up an appointment.

TRANSPORTATION

CROSSTOWN

Crosstown is a door-to-door transportation service for those who are age sixty-five and up, and people with disabilities who live in the municipality of Princeton. The service is provided by a partnership between the Center for Modern Aging Princeton (CMAP) and RideProvide, a program of the Greater Mercer Transportation Management Authority.

To be a Crosstown rider you must be:

- A Princeton municipal resident
- Age sixty-five and up, OR have a physical disability
- Able to get yourself to the car and in/out of the car without assistance
- Registered with the Crosstown program through CMAP at 609.751.9699

Rides between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. on weekdays must be reserved no later than noon on the business day before the scheduled ride. Rides can be scheduled for any purpose between any points of origin and destination within the municipality, but medical appointments at Penn Medicine Princeton Health or at the Princeton Fitness and Wellness Centers (in both Princeton and Plainsboro) will receive priority. Rides to Penn Medicine are free for registered riders.

Each one-way ride costs $3, which is payable by voucher; riders may purchase (with cash, check, or credit card) up to twenty vouchers at a time at the CMAP Office (101 Poor Farm Road), or by calling 609.751.9699 or use this form: <https://engage.cmapprinceton.org/purchasecrosstown>.

Did you know you can support CMAP by giving us your McCaffrey's receipts?

CMAP receives a percentage of the total receipts. They can be up to three months old. Mail or drop off to: CMAP, 101 Poor Farm Road, Building B (located between Bunn Dr. and Mt. Lucas Rd.), Princeton, NJ 08540 OR drop them in our mailbox on the porch at the Suzanne Patterson Building.

Spotlight on Stark & Stark Attorneys at Law

Stark & Stark's Trusts & Estates Team is Here to Help

Clients interested in designing and implementing a trust and estate plan to preserve, protect, and transfer assets are most effective when completed before a crisis occurs. The crisis, however, sometimes arrives without warning, demanding immediate responses to complex legal, tax, business, and healthcare decisions. Inadequate preparation for life transitions and delayed response often lead to increased costs and loss of control over important personal and financial choices. An experienced Stark & Stark New Jersey or Pennsylvania estate lawyer can help you prepare for the unexpected.

Since each trust and estate is unique, we work closely with our clients to evaluate the various relevant legal, financial, tax, and business issues, and to understand the client's concerns, needs, and expectations. Estate planning clients rely on Stark & Stark to help them make prudent decisions for meeting their legal, financial, and ethical obligations.

Stark & Stark attorneys have extensive asset protection and wealth preservation backgrounds, including hands-on experience in tax law (federal and the states of New Jersey and Pennsylvania), probate law, corporate law, business succession planning, elder law, guardianship law, and conservatorship law.

Stark & Stark clients receive the benefits found in a "boutique" firm that provides only trusts and estates services, along with the combined experience of many business, tax, real estate, family law, and litigation lawyers who bring to the creative problem-solving process an extraordinary depth of experience and level of sophistication. As we approach the last month of the 2023-2024 annual giving campaign, we invite you to make a DONATION that will further our work with the older adults in our community.

Thanks to you, we are able to offer the older adults in our region a supportive and vibrant community where they are encouraged to explore and engage in activities that align with their personal values and passions. By doing so, CMAP ensures that aging becomes not simply a matter of decline, of adding years to our life, but more importantly, adding life to our years! And you help make all of this possible.

This year alone, we have:

- Served over 5,500 constituents across all aspects of our programs and services;
- Engaged over 400 older adult volunteers in making a difference in the lives of others;
- Supported more than 1,200 participants with social service support;
- Performed nearly 1,000 hours of case management and counseling; and
- Provided technology assistance with over 900 client visits and workshop participants.

Your generosity is truly the fuel that empowers CMAP to change lives and helps older adults discover their “WHY.”

As a participant, volunteer, or friend of CMAP, your participation in this campaign would be extremely meaningful to us and would help us finish our fiscal year in a strong position to continue serving the older adults in our community. Whatever you are able to give will be greatly appreciated and deeply worthwhile.

Thank you! Again, we invite you to make a DONATION.
